

Piles

Can't Be Cured from the Outside. External treatments seldom cure piles. Nor do surgical operations. The cause is inside—bad circulation. The blood is stagnant, the veins flabby. The bowel walls are weak, the parts almost dead. To quickly and safely rid yourself of piles, you must first cure the circulation—send a fresh current through the stagnant pools. Internal treatment is the one safe method. Ointments and cutting won't do it.

J. S. Leonard, M. D., a specialist, set at work some years ago to find a real internal remedy for piles. He succeeded. He named his prescription HEM-ROID, and tried it in 1,000 cases before he was satisfied. Now HEM-ROID is sold by druggists everywhere under guarantee. It is a harmless tablet, easy to take, and can always be found at Lee & Osgood Co.'s and drug-gists everywhere, who will gladly re- turn the purchase price to any dis- satisfied customer.

A NORWICH INTERVIEW

Mrs. Brown Tells Her Experience.

The following brief account of an interview with a Norwich woman five years ago, and its sequel, will be read with keen interest by every citizen.

Mrs. Margaret Brown, 340 West Main Street, Norwich, says: "My back and kidneys were in a bad way. I suffered a great deal from a dull, heavy ache in my back. It gradually grew worse until it was almost impossible for me to get out of bed mornings. I was in that condition for nearly a year, trying different medicines without help. Finally I heard of Doan's Kidney Pills and got some at Sevin & Son's Drug Store, and I found they were just what I needed. They made me feel like a different woman, better than I had felt for years. My kidneys are now acting regularly and the pains have left."

OVER FIVE YEARS LATER, Mrs. Brown said: "Doan's Kidney Pills certainly are excellent and they do what is claimed for them. At times, when a cold settles on my kidneys and causes my back to ache, I use Doan's and they never fail to give me prompt relief."

INTELLIGENCE PLUS ENTHUSIASM WILL BRING NORWICH FORWARD, SAYS SPEAKER

Intelligence cooperating with enthusiasm, the type of enthusiasm that abounds in western cities, is the thing for New England cities and the thing for Norwich to cultivate if it is to press forward and not be outstripped by other cities.

Dr. George Dugan of Trenton, N. J., in an inspiring address upon the subject of Civic Pride, Friday night at the Community House on Church street, before the first forum meeting of the recently reorganized chamber of commerce. He had an audience of over 100, including several women, who followed his remarks with close attention.

Rev. Alexander H. Abbott, chairman of the forum committee, opened the meeting with brief remarks upon the significance of the interest that is felt in what the chamber of commerce is going to do, and then the consumption of it. The main feature of the film was to show that by careful observation and use of economy a great amount of coal can be saved. Several large plants operated by steam were shown and the way they extract coal is made to do its full amount of work.

Before the film R. C. Denny of New York gave an interesting talk on the automatic stokers, a labor saving as well as an economical device in the handling of coal.

John J. O'Rourke, secretary of the chamber of commerce, was the next speaker introduced by Chairman Abbott with complimentary reference to the energy and skill that Mr. O'Rourke is showing in directing the work of the chamber.

Secretary O'Rourke responded in part as follows:

You have the right at this time to know the answer to the question—Well, what are the chances of our success? We have had a period of intense enthusiasm wherein our hopes and aspirations were raised by the promise of a modern chamber of commerce working on the basis of the beginning of a new industry after industry. This is but a phase of its activities. The fundamental principle of your chamber is service, service regardless of race, creed or politics. We are going to be a service to the community, so that Norwich, in due time will take its proper position with the other cities of the state and nation.

The richest town is that one when the largest proportion of its people see visions of things to be done and dare to make them come to pass. It is the face of difficulties. Every citizen, worthy of the name, realizes that personal service is the rent we pay for the room we occupy in our community. Only through the cooperation of other citizens can we have a chance to succeed given us and through our existence, success is made possible for us. Consequently, the officers of your organization have made every effort to secure the best talent possible for the committees on the program of work, and we submit to you the question—is this not the most important thing for the chamber to do?

The American Legion emblem occupies the center of the flag. The staff is about six feet tall and is surmounted by a golden eagle. On the handle appears the following inscription: Presented to Robert O. Fletcher Post, No. 4, by Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Fletcher and Family.

The meeting was held in the new room in the McGarry building. It was presided over by Commander Earle C. Herrick.

After the reports of the secretary and treasurer had been presented and other routine business matters disposed of, the post took up the matter of nominations for officers to serve during the year 1921.

The following were nominated: For commander, Dr. John S. Blackman; for first vice commander, William Anderson; for second vice commander, Frederick B. Powers; for third vice commander, Herman Bruckner and Carl Brand; for adjutant, Miss Gertrude O'Neill; for treasurer, James J. Madden; for chaplain, James C. Pullen; for chaplain, Miss Nora Driscoll; for sergeant-at-arms, Martin Bunn.

In addition to nominations for officers, nominations were made for ten members of the executive committee, the five post officers to be ex-officio members. The nominations made for the executive committee followed: Harold T. Robinson, Otis B. Dorsey, Edwin Del. Blood, Webster D. Copp, Paul Fanning, Mrs. Pollard Tatfield, Benedict C. Pullen, J. Henry Shannon, William M. Shelly, Earle C. Herrick, Miss Irene C. Disco, Harry W. House, William L. Deane, Charles Howe, Miss Marie Desiring, Richard Gregson and George W. Malcolm.

The election of officers and executive committee will take place at the next meeting of the post, which will be on Dec. 17th.

The matter of the proposed state bonus for ex-service men was then taken up in connection with a request from state headquarters for a referendum vote. The post unanimously voted in favor of the state bonus.

Address on Civic Pride.

Chairman Abbott introduced Rev. Dr. Dugan with a reference to their pleasant associations when both were pastors of the Albany street church.

Dr. Dugan said he felt like speaking from a text that was a favorite with Theodore Roosevelt, "Be not hearers of the word but doers of it." He said he had a great deal of enthusiasm that he had seen in western cities, where people have but one advice to give to visitors. "Pull up your stakes wherever you are and come to our town, dig here and find a place on earth."

The Chamber of Commerce, he said, is the intelligence and enthusiasm of a community organized for co-operative service in the interests of the commercial and welfare of the community. What better object could a man devote his intelligence to than the welfare of his community? But you can't do anything with cold-blooded men and women. New England has too many of this. You can't do anything with just cold blooded intellect. Norwich needs enthusiasm, organized intellect and organized enthusiasm welded together for some worthy purpose and object. One of our town's best and finest place on earth."

DENIES PETITION FOR REDUCED TROLLEY FARE

The public utilities commission handed down its finding Friday denying petitioners in New London and Hartford relief which the people of those cities sought from the increase in fare on the trolley lines that operate in New London and Hartford. The reason advanced for a decreased fare in each case were the same so that the finding applies in both cases. The commission said that the fact that the increase in fare had recently been made and that the trolley company has not yet had time to determine what the effect on the revenue will be. The decision says that the need of a 10 cent fare to the company was not disputed and points out that some compelling facts of that nature are needed to induce the commission to order the change in fare sought.
